Perspective Project: Choosing Happiness

*Best for ages 9 and up. The goal of this project is to help inculcate the concept that our perspective becomes our reality.

When creating the project, it is unclear what the outcome will be. Once the project is complete, however, it is evident that the different perspectives themselves became the project.

Looking at the final project directly from the front, one does not see any complete picture, but when it is slanted in either direction two distinct pictures emerge.

Use this project as a segue to reinforce that our perspective and outlook in life becomes our reality. Things are very rarely objectively “good” or “bad,” and nearly always become the way we interpret them.
